U.S. Department of Homeland Security
United States Secret Service

On April 28th, 2020 from 9:30am – 1:30 PM, the U.S. Secret Service and the Indiana State Police will be co-sponsoring a training event which will provide threat assessment training for law enforcement and school officials. This event will be held in the Loeb Theater at Purdue University and is free to all invitees. The presentation will be open to school resource officers, police investigators, school administrators, school counselors, school psychologists and anyone who may potentially be involved in a risk detection / management position. This training is provided by the Indiana State Police and personnel from the National Threat Assessment Center (NTAC), a component of the U.S. Secret Service. The NTAC conducts research, training and consultation on threat assessment and the prevention of targeted violence.

This four hour block will address the following topics:

- Identifying potential threats and persons who may be exhibiting concerning behaviors
- Investigating and gathering information on the background and behaviors of concerning persons
- Assessing whether someone poses a threat of violence or other harmful behavior
- Developing risk management strategies and interventions
- Case Study presentation on the Richmond, IN shooting by Lt. Jeff Hearon, Indiana State Police

This is not training on responding to an active shooter situation
